

6	B is the correct answer A is not the correct answer as increasing the temperature of a metal wire causes an increase in the amplitude of lattice vibrations. C is not the correct answer as a change in the number of conduction electrons is normally related to semiconductors. D is not the correct answer as a change in the number of conduction electrons is normally related to semiconductors.	(1)
---	---	-----