

4	The only correct answer is A because impulse has the units of mass \times velocity B is not correct because this is not units of mass \times velocity C is not correct because N is not a base unit D is not correct because N is not a base unit	1
---	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---