

4	The only correct answer is B because the field lines diverge (indicating alike charges) and the point where a unit charge experiences no resultant force is closer to charge X A is not correct because the null point would be equidistant between the charges C is not correct because this would create a different (attractive) pattern between the charges D is not correct because this would create a different (attractive) pattern between the charges	1
---	--	---