

2

C is the correct answer

(1)

A is incorrect because it takes no account of the k.e.

B is incorrect because the energy dissipated would be greater than the original energy

D is incorrect because the energy dissipated could not be negative